ABSTRACT

A 3D graphics system includes a mobile device adapted to receive a 3D graphics file in one or more formats; code to converting the file into a universal format; code to decompress the file; and code to render the file into a 3D image.